THE FUTURE is NOW...

From Amy S in Longmont Colorado.

"I feel like The Future of Education is quickly becoming a reality! Our school is planning to go to distance learning in the event we can't return to school after Spring Break. I'm so glad that I took this class, (The Future of Education) when I did, and feel like I have a little better understanding of distance learning and what it entails. I'm sure I'm going to be referring back to my notes often; as well as thinking of how you handled our course!"

From Randy B. in Denver Colorado.

"Thank you all. This was a wonderful course and I really do feel that I have learned a lot. I look forward to telling my coworkers about the Future in Education course and taking courses with you guys in the future!"

Resource Support for Schools, Teachers and Parents during COVID-19 and afterward

We know that the COVID-19 pandemic has caused schools statewide to shut down and extend spring breaks, but CDLS (Colorado Digital Solutions) and eNetLearning will continue to support all students enrolled in CDLS and eNetLearning online classes.

Resources for Students, Parents, and Teachers: CDLS in partnership with eNetLearning and the Colorado BOCES has created two online "digital binders" of resources and activities that districts can share to support students, parents, and teachers during these closures. We want to thank those districts who posted and have shared these resources. The following "binders" can be accessed without any logins and can be embedded on district websites and copied. Please forward additional resources and we will add them.

- Learning Resources for Students and Parents:

- Personal Digital Toolbox for Busy Educators:

Both CDLS and eNetLearning will also be available to work with our partner districts and their staff to help them work with their students remotely and to develop an online platform if needed.

COVID-19 - eNetLearning and CDLS Support

CDLS is providing access to all our courses, with a focus on core area content and other courses as requested, at a cost of $25 per course registration through the COVID-19 school closures. CDLS will also provide an instructor/staff member to help local instructors customize the course(s) to fit their students' needs and to assist in monitoring and supporting student work online.

Additionally, CDLS in partnership with eNetLearning (a project of the Colorado BOCES), will provide small rural districts access to a Learning Management System through the CDLS Moodle/LMS where a districts' teachers and students can work together within one online platform. CDLS and eNetLearning will provide access to this option for $300 per district and will provide an eNetLearning staff member to assist local staff to customize the LMS area based on district needs. Through CDLS students will be registered in their "district LMS" and the district will be able to monitor student access, time on task, and have access to a communication system that students, teachers, and parents can access. NOTE: this option does not provide access to course content.

CDLS believes it is important to support our partner districts. We know this unique situation will impact districts differently based on their size and access to local options so CDLS is willing to share its expertise and experience anyway that may be helpful, particularly in supporting small rural districts across the state.
